ABOUT OUR PARTNER

Haigazian University is a small, Christian liberal arts college in the heart of Beirut that was founded by the Armenian Evangelical Church more than 60 years ago. The students, both Muslim and Christian, are deeply engaged in serving the community around them, offering both hope and help in the aftermath of too many crises. Classes are offered for seminary students who still need to earn their undergraduate degrees. As a tight-knit family of both faculty and students, they encourage one another to believe in and work towards God's sure future.

THE IMPACT
